It is especially the organization and presentation of these facts in a format designed to offer speed of reference which is original in this directory. PREFACE

In order to compile this directory of the legislative and executive branches in reasonably complete form, publication of this, the thirteenth edition of the Congressional Staff Directory, was delayed by nearly a month while the staff conducted a detailed follow-up of the Members' offices, the committee and subcommittee staffs, and the departments and independent agencies of the Executive Branch. To those who cooperated in this second round of information gathering, our sincere thanks.

The Congressional Staff Directory originated nineteen years ago as a thin looseleaf notebook in which my Congressional office staff placed only information which was not then available in convenient form elsewhere: subcommittee members, staffs, offices and extensions; a list of the principal cities in Congressional districts, personnel in the district offices and short biographical sketches of the key staff people. The first edition of the Congressional Staff Directory was published in 1959 and the first edition of the Advance Locator, the pre-publication supplement to the Staff Directory, in 1963.

In compiling each new edition of the Congressional Staff Directory, constant liaison is maintained with the committees, the subcommittees, the Members, and the departments and agencies of the Executive Branch. Our editors and staff are especially grateful to those who have been so patient in assisting us with this timely information and with their helpful suggestions, many of which are now incorporated in this directory. We especially thank those in the Senate, the House, the Library of Congress and the Executive Branch for their invaluable cooperation.

STATE DELEGATIONS

STATE DELEGATIONS

This timesaving compilation is exclusive with Congressional Staff Directory publications. In this section, you will find the very latest population statistics, the cities of over 1,500 population and the counties in each congressional district, carefully edited biographical briefs on each Member, and the address and telephone number of each home state or district office

The list of cities in each congressional district is compiled from the latest available figures from the 1970 census. These city listings have been revised completely since the publication of the Advance Locator in January

Those wishing to approach a problem concerning the identification of a particular congressional district by starting with the name of a city, will find Section X of this Congressional Staff Directory a timesaver. Section X, which is identified by the green paper on which it is printed, includes the latest 1970 census figures for each of the nearly ten thousand cities and towns listed

STAFF BIOGRAPHIES

NOTES ON THE STAFF BIOGRAPHIES

The Board of Editors selects these names of key staff personnel for individual biographical treatment primarily on the basis of their potential interest to serious users of this reference work. No financial obligation accrues to those selected for complete biographical coverage. It is impossible to buy a listing in the Congressional Staff Directory or to influence the selection of The Board of Editors.

After lists of staff members are secured from individual Senators, Representatives and the Committees, the names are screened by the Board and detailed biographical information questionnaires mailed to those who meet the high criteria set by the Editors. Thus, to a great degree, the information included about each biographee represents his or her own appraisal of accomplishments to date. In a very few instances, information obtained from authoritative sources has been included.

Once the sketch is rewritten to conform with the style of this book and set in type, a proof is mailed to the biographee for correction, up-dating and verification. In the few cases where deadlines made complete authentication impossible, this fact is indicated by an asterisk following the last word of the biographical sketch which calls attention to the fact that the subject of this personal history did not have time to approve the material before printing. In a few biographies, the address or certain elements of information have been omitted at the request of the individual.

FORMAT

The form of the biographical sketch has been planned to make possible a detailed personal history arranged in orderly sequence with due regard for compactness. Unusual abbreviations used are listed in a table included with the preliminary matter at the front of the book. The hypothetical biography below is intended as an example.

ALPHABETIZING

In the section on Staff Biographies, the Table of Contents and the Index, names beginning with "M," "Mc," and "Mac" or with "St" and "Ste" are arranged alphabetically as if the prefix were spelled out in full—"Mac" or "Saint."

Surnames beginning with "De," "Des," or "Du", regardless of the capitalization or spacing, are listed with the prefix preceding the surname and are arranged alphabetically under the letter "D". Surnames beginning with "Van," "Von," or "von" are likewise listed under "V".
